

Yes, I'm still alive.

It's been a little while since I've emailed.

The world is nuts, which is partly why I haven't kept in touch. Also, my life has been a little nuts too. (But whose isn't, right?)

Anyway, I thought I'd just check in and let you know I'm still here.

How are YOU doing?

Have you been keeping up with your normal routines, despite the craziness everywhere? Or have yours kind of fallen by the wayside?

Some of mine have, such as the whole podcasting thing. I may come back to it, I may not.

What do you think? Do you miss finding new episodes of Classy on the Outside in your favorite podcasting app every Tuesday?

Regardless, I hope you are doing well. And I hope you have a great weekend!

Brittany V.
CAO (Chief Awkwardness Officer) & Founder
Classy on the Outside

Listen Now